GUIDELINES: For Terminale and TAL Students Starting at University in the UK

Congratulations, you are off on your next adventure! Well done!

Starting university is an exciting but sometimes nerve-wracking time for most students. You may be wondering about what to take with you, whether you will make friends easily, how you will cope with your studies and living away from home etc. Because everyone is in the same position, your university will have lots of advice on starting at university and being a “fresher”.

UCAS also has information and guidance on Finances, Accommodation etc. UCAS Starting your studies and how to get help or support when you are a student UCAS getting support or help

Have a look at these other sites too:

- The Student Room Before You Go To University
- National Union of Students - Freshers and Settling-in
- Which University - what to expect in your first university term
- UCAS - Getting Started - Disabled Students

For all but a tiny minority it is a great experience.

All the best for the future!
